DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Drawings

The drawings were objected to 37 CFR 1.83(a) for failing to show every features of the invention specified in the claims in the Ex parte Quayle Action mailed on December 11, 2006. The corrected drawings were submitted on April 18, 2007.

Accordingly, the objection to the drawings has been withdrawn.

Claim Rejection

Claim 10 was rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112 1st paragraph for failing to comply with the enablement requirements. Currently, the claim has been amended.

Accordingly, the rejection of the claim has been withdrawn.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 10, 11, 12, 14, and 23 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Akihiko (JP Pub. 11-295697) teaches a liquid crystal display comprising a driver section which supplies an image signal for which a potential is inverted into a positive potential or a negative potential for each one horizontal period, to each of plural data lines, and a scanning driver which supplies a plurality of scanning signals which of each rises at a different timing, to each of a plurality of scanning lines while skipping a predetermined number of the plurality of the scanning lines for each one horizontal period.

Yun (US 2003/0189537) teaches a liquid crystal display comprising a driver section which supplies first image signals and second image signals that are generated by delaying the first image signals, alternately for every one horizontal period, wherein the polarity of the first image signal is different from the polarity of the second image signal.

None of the prior arts teaches a liquid crystal display comprising a scanning driver which sequentially shifts gate-output pulses in synchrony with a clock signal which rises for each one horizontal period and supplies scanning signals to scanning lines based on each of alternately rising m enable signals and each of the n gate-output pulses.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
